BY JACQUI COCHRAN

An armed robbery suspect was arrested Friday by Waveland policemen within minutes after the hold up of a beer delivery man.

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell reported the hold up took place behind Delchamps Grocery Store in Choctaw Plaza shortly before 2:30 p.m.

He stated, "The beer delivery man was just finishing his delivery to the store when the suspect held a knife to him."

"He handed over his wallet containing $1,641, and the subject fled on foot."

"The victim directed a passerby to call the police, and followed the subject to a corner lot next to the Goodyear tire store on Highway 90.

"Upon arrival, Officer Kevin McIntosh searched the wooded area pointed out by the victim and discovered the subject hiding under some bushes."

"Arrested was Albert Lee Wiggins, 30, of Gulfport. He has been charged with armed robbery and has been incarcerated on a $25,000 bond."

Varnell said assisting in the arrest was Officers Kent Malley, Gene Boswell, Kendal Ladner and himself.

He added all the money was recovered.

Hang gliders stalled in airport use attempt

BY TRACI BONNEY

Hang gliders Herb Stieffel and Robert DeBlanc were grounded Monday when the board of supervisors took under advisement their request for a permit to operate at Stennis International Air Park.

Stieffel and DeBlanc told the board their sport is a valid aviation sport and should be allowed, but their efforts to get approval for the activity from the Port and Harbor Commission have met with resistance.

Stieffel claimed he was given a date to meet with the commission's airport committee, but the committee held the meeting earlier than he had been told, at a time when he was out of town.

Port and Harbor Commission Executive Director Harold "Buz" Olsen, during his remarks on the matter, said the meeting was originally set for March, when it was held, but that he believed Stieffel had thought the meeting was scheduled for April.

Stieffel said the committee members told him they thought the hang gliding was a liability for the airport. He contended that he and three or four other hang gliders, who he said have been at the airport several times, were barred from further activity at Stennis because "someone saw something different out there from what they normally were used to, and got scared."

He said the group had always

Supervisors accept county agent resignation

BY TRACI BONNEY

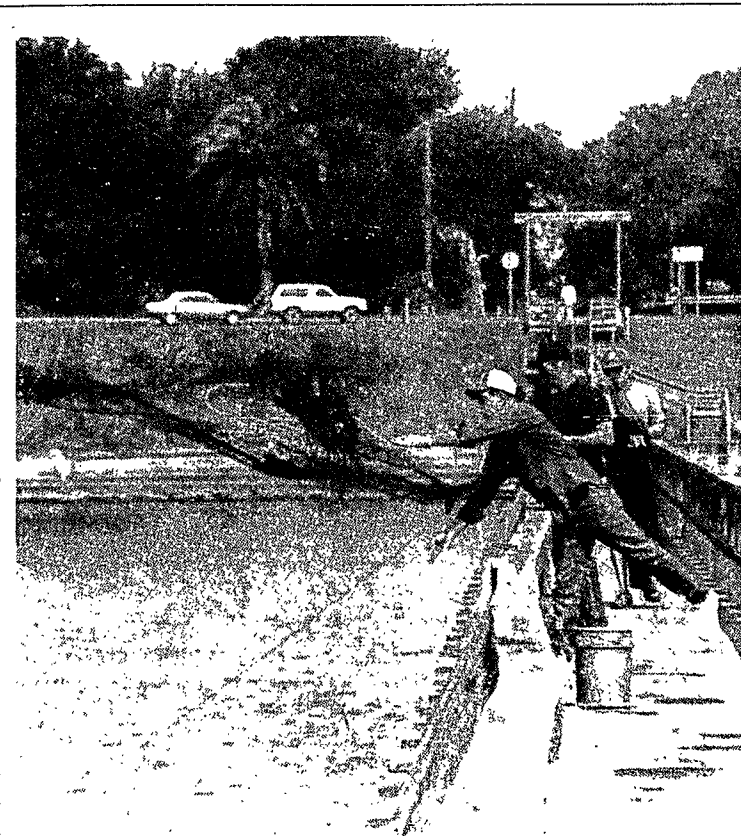

The county board of supervisors accepted two resignations and authorized two hirings, among other business conducted Monday.

The board accepted the resignations of county agent Randy Smith, who transferred to Greenwood, and park commissioner Robert Gavagnie, and authorized the hiring of a replacement for Smith and of Linda Gregory as a part-time McLeod Park employee.

A.L. Franklin and Alton Lumpkin, in addition to obtaining permission to hire Gregory, updated the board on activity at McLeod Park. Franklin said revenues from the January-April period of this year doubled to more than $15,000 from last year's revenues during the same time.

He also said the park has had 23,000 visitors from October 1991 to April, and had to turn away 15 campers Easter weekend because the primitive and RV campsites were full.

Legislative wrap-up

Both chambers pass initiative and referendum

BY TRACI BONNEY

The State House and Senate both passed an initiative and referendum measure Friday morning, shortly before the close of the 1992 session.

Sen. Vic Frankiewicz called the measure a "watered-down version, but at least it's a start."

The bill allows the voters to petition for ballots only on constitutional amendments, and requires that a petition come from at least 12 percent of those who voted in the last governor's race. No more than one-fifth of the people petitioning can come from any one of the state's Congressional districts.

"That means you pretty much have to get an equal number of people from each of the state's five districts to ask to put an amendment on the ballot," Frankiewicz said.

The bill also makes initiative and referendum an indirect process. "This means that a constitutional amendment goes to the legislature; if the legislature amends it, the original version, the amended version and a "none of the above" choice are placed on the ballot.

"Also, the voting process has two parts. The first part is a "yes" or "no" vote, which determines whether or not the three choices will go on the ballot. If the majority vote "no," the amendment stands as it is; it doesn't go on the ballot. If the majority vote "yes," the choices are placed on the ballot. "I guess it might make for a little bit of confusion on the ballot."

An additional feature is that an amendment needs to have the support of 40 percent of

Central Ave. work complete: Waveland

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Waveland Board of Aldermen approved full payment for sewer improvement work performed along Central Avenue to Dale Smith Construction Company Tuesday.

The decision to reverse the withholding of 10 percent of the remaining payment came following a report by Mayor Stella Frilot that city engineer Duke Levy found the project to be complete.

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman asked if Levy had turned in a written report for the board's review, saying, "We (he and Levy) have discussed there is a problem with the road. He (Levy) said, if we hold the ten percent, in his opinion it would be enough to cover any expenses should there be a problem later."

Ward 1 Alderman Barbara Rappold stated if there were problems with the road sinking later, the city could not hold the construction company at fault when many roads in Waveland tend to sink. "The problem is, we live in a swamp."

Frilot said Levy and city utilities superintendent Mike Barnes reported the job was complete.

The motion to pay the full balance passed 3-1 with Weidman dissenting.

Rappold motioned for approval on two change orders in connection with the current FmHA water and sewer line extension work project.

GM&R Construction asked to cut sections of Old Spanish Trail in order to lay pipe lines under the road bed. Barnes told the board the road bed could not be bored because of the danger of cutting existing telephone lines which run along the road and service Stennis Space Center.

"I'm the one who asked the road not be cut," Rappold stated, "but as explained by this

Juvenile attacked

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell reported a female juvenile was attacked by another juvenile and cut with a pocket knife Tuesday at Elwood Bourgeois Park.

Varnell stated, "The victim stated a black male, 15-16 years old, was following her at about 5:20 p.m. Tuesday at the park."

"She reported the suspect was calling her names as he followed her, when he suddenly jumped on her back and cut her on her face and arms with a pocket knife.

"The victim said she pushed the suspect off of her and punched him in the nose. She returned home and advised her mother when she came home from work."

He added the victim said her attacker was a stranger.

According to Varnell, the girl suffered minor lacerations from the ordeal.

Detective William Pepperman is in charge of the investigation.

Little Angels

When God calls little children to dwell with Him above, We mortals sometimes question the wisdom of His love.

For no heartache compares with the death of one small child.

Who does so much to make our world seem wonderful and mild.

Perhaps God tires of calling the aged to his fold, So he picks a rosebud before it can grow old.

God knows how much we need them, and so He takes but few.

To make the land of Heaven more beautiful to view. Believing this is difficult, still somehow we must try.

The saddest word mankind knows will always be "Goodbye."

So when a little child departs, we who are left behind Must realize God loves children.

Angels are hard to find.

cleared their plans with the fixed base operation (FBO) at the airport and had always adhered to the air traffic patterns.

When Supervisor Alton "Dolph" Kellar asked Olsen what the commission's position is on the matter, Olsen said he felt Stieffel had not explained all the aspects of the sport to the board.

Olsen said the hang gliding involves towing the glider down the runway until a certain speed is reached, at which time the glider goes aloft while still attached to the tow rope. At the proper altitude, the tow rope is released.

Olsen said he thought the speed needed was more than 70 miles an hour, but Stieffel quickly corrected him, saying the speed at which the glider leaves the ground is 32 miles an hour.

Stieffel said the sport will not block the runway, since each launch takes only three minutes and there are only a handful of gliders in the area.

He repeatedly stressed the facts that many airports allow hang gliding clubs to operate; Stennis Air Park is large enough to accommodate both the glider activity and the regular airport traffic; and the sport involves several ground observers and other safety measures.

At one point in the discussion, board attorney Gerald Gex, who formerly served as Port and Harbor Commission attorney, told Stieffel that the operation of the airport is governed jointly by the board and the commission, and neither body can approve or disapprove his request independent of the other.

Olsen told the board and Stieffel that the commission had made a policy that no vehicles other than those used by the commission, will be allowed on the airport runways except for maintenance or emergencies.

"We've worked hard to get the airport where it is today," Olsen said. "We're not going to put the county into a situation where the county can be sued or held liable, or even have its hand slapped by the FAA."

His remarks referred to action taken at an April 13 Port and Harbor Commission meeting, when airport committee chairman Pete Beebe moved to prohibit all vehicles from runways at Stennis Air Park unless they be official or on airport business.

Beebe's motion was prompted by Stieffel's request for partial use of the airport runway for the hang gliding club.

"The committee would prefer to see airport activities business-related," Beebe commented at the commission meeting.

Olsen said that according to Federal Aviation Administration regulations, the commission needed only to enforce existing authority to regulate the type of activities deemed preferable. This means that while the hang gliding is a permitted activity at the airport, the commission is not obligated to allow it.

The commission voted to exclude all vehicles not pertaining to airport business.

The supervisors, after hearing Stieffel and Olsen, voted to take Stieffel's request under advisement until they receive a resolution in writing from Olsen concerning the commission's decision.

those who voted in the last governor's race in order to pass.

"This is to keep an amendment from being passed by a small number of people in case of a low voter turnout," Frankiewicz explained.

Several items are off-limits to initiative and referendum, he said, including the constitution's bill of rights; the right to work law; changes in the initiative procedure itself; and the public employees retirement system.

The bill passed by the State Legislature also mandates that if an initiative requires funding, the amendment on the ballot must include the cost of funding and identify its source.

OTHER LEGISLATION
Frankiewicz said legislation was passed which enhances penalties for crimes or violence motivated by racial, ethnic or religious prejudices. The legislation also gives victims an avenue of civil recourse, he added.

However, the governor may veto the measure, Frankiewicz said. "Most of the very conservative legislators voted against it. They said they felt it gives preference to minorities."

"But my belief is that it doesn't give minorities preference, because it is to help anyone who is a victim of such a crime."

"I think what we're saying is that a crime is a crime, and that if it is racially or religiously motivated, it's even worse."

Franklin told the board the bath house septic tank and fill drain have severe problems with roots that will take at least $400 to repair, and that the park commission would like to consider a treatment system for the park.

Board president Mike Ladner told Franklin and Lumpkin to have the septic tank work done, even though it wasn't budgeted for, because Chancery Clerk Mike Nectaise said he would find the money to cover it at the end of the fiscal year.

The supervisors granted a tax exemption to Dominion Christian Academy, at the request of Tax Assessor/Collector Edward Murtagh.

They also accepted a check for $22,737.38 from the Mississippi Highway Patrol for the Sheriff's Department and amended the department budget to reflect the amount, and authorized the purchase with those funds of a patrol car and radio at state contract price.

Investigator Delbert Seay, who made the request concerning the patrol car and radio, also asked for authorization for the department to purchase a used pickup truck for the county animal warden. The board told him to write the necessary specifications, and Supervisor Alton "Dolph" Kellar suggested he check on the state contract price for a new truck and include the phrase "new or used pickup truck" in the advertising specifications.

Operation Wakeup member complains to Bay Council

BY TRACI BONNEY

Regular business occupied the greatest part of the Bay St. Louis City Council's first May meeting Tuesday.

The Council took under advisement a petition from residents on Genin Road to make the 500 block a one-way route from Dunbar to Hwy. 90, which they said follows the mail route for that street.

The Council also discussed amending three ordinances that deal with licenses for electrical, plumbing and building contractors. The amendments would move the expiration date for contractor licenses to coincide with the expiration for city privilege licenses, and would waive the contracting license fee for people who hold a valid Bay St. Louis privilege license.

Municipal clerk Kay Johnson said the amendment will only waive the contractor license fee, not the licensing procedure. "Contractors will still have to get their license; they just won't have to pay the fee if they have a privilege license," she explained.

Johnson said Friday that the city won't really be changing anything, since many contractors currently buy only their contracting license and not a privilege license.

"Contractors who work with their own hands only are not required to have a privilege license, whereas those who handle materials or have other employees are required to have both. These amendments just make things a little easier for those who must have both licenses."

"By making these amendments, we'll be complying both with state law and with city ordinance."

The Council took the matter

under advisement.

At a request from Police Chief Frank McNeil, the Council agreed to have letters sent from the city to the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club and the Collins C. Diboll Foundation thanking them for the donations of $1,000 and $2,500 that enabled the police department to purchase its newest canine addition, narcotics dog Buddy. McNeil said the letters will accompany those he has written and a picture of Buddy with his handler, Patrolman Jeff Hair.

The Council passed an ordinance granting Mississippi Power Company an easement on Turner Street for work with their power lines, and also voted to enclose with the ordinance a copy of the city's tree ordinance to make power company workers aware of the city's concern about damage done to trees in the city right of way.

During the public forum, Dana Benoit with Operation Wakeup told the Council members of the neighborhood organization have been harassed by police officers during organization functions at area parks.

"We were having a function at the park, and five minutes after we turned the music on, an officer was telling us to cut it off," he said. He also claimed that Operation Wakeup members who frequent the park have been approached by police officers as though they were doing something wrong by being in the park.

When asked if Operation Wakeup had notified the city or the police department about the functions, Benoit said he had taken a flier to the police station, but had not notified the city.

Council members then told him that if Operation Wakeup will notify both the mayor and police chief in advance, and will obtain City Council permission to hold the function, the organization should have no further problems.

Clerk of Council Mike Cuevas also told him that if the Operation Wakeup board of directors wants her to, she will meet with the board members at their next meeting and explain the chain of command in these matters, if they will give her a few days' notice of the meeting.

The Council had dealt with several property cleanup matters early in the meeting, and had discussed a seldom-used part of the city ordinance that allows the police department to issue a citation if derelict automobiles and appliances are left

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The number of coordinators for adopting streets and roads in the area as part of the Litter Free by '93 campaign continues to increase.

The goal of the Beautification Committee, Hancock Chamber of Commerce, is to have every road in the county, Bay St. Louis, Diamondhead and Waveland adopted.

To adopt your street or road, that is be a street coordinator, call the area coordinators for your neighborhood.

If you reside in the county, your contact person is Linne Swille, 255-3367 or 1-800-367-2271; Diamondhead, Mary McDonnell, 255-1556; and Bay-Waveland areas, Naomi Martin, 467-2537.

Your help is needed if we are to achieve this goal, and this is only possible through the cooperation of all residents.

We can make this entire area a showplace. We can make this area litter free.

We have a list of streets and roads already adopted elsewhere in this issue of The Echo.

Check it over and see if there is a coordinator still needed for your neighborhood area.

Won't you help!

The City of Waveland is offering a $100 reward to anyone assisting in the conviction of litter offenders. A fine and the amount of the reward will be borne by litter offenders who face the municipal judge.

Our governmental bodies are aware of the cost to taxpayers for the collection of litter, and I am glad to see action being taken.

It is really a shame when rewards have to be offered to get a point across to someone about how serious it is to litter, but for some folks this is the only way to get their attention.

It appears a 'nut or two' come 'out of the woodwork' every now and then as some poor animals are victims of poison.

It is a serious offense to use poison on animals, and Waveland Animal Control Warden Scott Lusich and Humane Society cruelty investigator Suzannah Becker are investigating the cause of death of 13 animals within one week.

This is a sad day when someone would stoop so low as to place poison out for a dog or cat.

In case you are interested, a person convicted of using poison on an animal can be sentenced to imprisonment in the state penitentiary, not exceeding three years, imprisonment in the county jail, not exceeding one year, and/or fined up to $500.

I am hoping the culprit or culprits will be found and detained for a few years.

Anyone with any information can call the Waveland Animal Shelter, 467-0230; Becker, 452-4022; or the Waveland Police Department, 467-3669.

Exploring the future

As a member of the Senate Commerce, Science & Transportation Committee, I was able to quiz Daniel Goldin during his confirmation hearings for the position of NASA administrator about the future of our space program and projects such as ASRM (Advanced Solid Rocket Motor).

He cites four core values for the future of NASA:

* Human interaction in space—to invest in our children and their future by exploring the opportunities that space offers and to quench the human desire to understand space and the unexplored;

* Planet Earth—to continue with the learning process of our planet and what affects it environmentally and scientifically;

* Universe—to gather information about other planets and solar systems, discover new elements and discover the universe's origins;

* Continued leadership—to keep America as the world's leader in aeronautics and to profit from the spin-offs of space exploration such as jobs, technology and science.

I was impressed with Goldin's emphasis that as we make policy decisions, and changes that affect the economy and the environment, we need to base such decisions on data and not just intuition. And, I agree the decisions should be fortified and not hastily made because of concerns for fears.

During the hearing, I asked Goldin about ASRM at Yellow Creek. He said that the program is an issue very worthy of evaluation. He said a tremendous amount of time and money has already gone into it, and if confirmed, he will get on top of the issue promptly.

Goldin acknowledged that there was a problem with the President's budget concerning funding for ASRM, and concluded by saying, "If confirmed, will Daniel Goldin look at ASRM? You bet?"

What puzzles me is why terminate ASRM when NASA contends that it will cost millions of dollars and require three space shuttle missions, estimated at $480 million each? Already, $1.2 billion has been appropriated for ASRM, and the people of Mississippi are $63 million vested in the project. Where's the fiscal responsibility?

But beyond broken faith and more wasted money, we truly need ASRM, the next generation of rocket, to carry us into space. If NASA want to implement the core points made by Daniel Goldin and justify itself as a benefit to our and our children's future, it needs ASRM and, beyond that, to carry through with commitments made and the development of research.

Compromise gives funds to state universities

The Senate worked through last weekend and continued this past week to complete the session and adjourn for the year.

Most of the recent legislation has been fairly routine, but a few important bills stand out.

A compromise measure was passed last Monday to finance long-term improvements at Mississippi's colleges and other state agencies. The compromise includes: $62 million for Mississippi's eight universities; $34 million for libraries at Mississippi State, the University of Mississippi, Southern Mississippi and the fine arts complex at Delta State; $15 million would go to smaller universities.

To help handle a tremendous increase in enrollment over the last few years, $14 million was earmarked for junior and community colleges, $9 million for public libraries and $6.5 million for the Department of Mental Health was also included.

The bill provides for solid long-term improvements, and will take advantage of low interest rates and low construction costs. The Governor vetoed this bill, but was overridden by both the Senate and the House.

The Senate approved a compromise to increase DUI penalties and confiscate vehicles of the worst drunk drivers. The bill assesses tougher penalties on drunken drivers, including the seizure of the vehicles of third-time DUI offenders.

The compromise increases the penalties for the first, second, third and subsequent offenses. It also eliminates plea bargaining in DUI cases.

A conference report was adopted this week which will put inmates to work raising vegetables, livestock, fish and other foodstuffs at state prisons. The compromise provides for the hiring of a farm director to manage the program which is designed to supply community work centers and local jails.

Finally, the Senate and House approved a constitutional initiative resolution. This is a stripped down version of the original initiative and referendum bill. If the voters approve it in November, it will allow the people to initiate constitutional amendments by collecting 12% of the number of voters in the last governor's race. One-fifth of these signatures will have to come from each congressional district.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial From Mississippi Economic Council

Civil reform needed in state

Over the years, a troubling trend has come about in our judicial system. The people of Mississippi have a civil justice, or tort, system that is out of balance, unfair and encourages frivolous lawsuits.

A change is needed to ensure basic principles of justice and fairness in the system. Here in Mississippi, the need for change is evident in several areas:

—There are no true safeguards against the abuse of punitive damage awards, which are designed to punish a defendant and warn others from similar behavior. Standards are needed for the determination of awarding punitive damages so that the court system no longer serves as a means to win a financial windfall.

—Plaintiffs in personal injury suits can recover damages even if they are primarily responsible for the incident, leading to frivolous lawsuits which clog the courts and delay meritorious cases.

—Juries are not allowed to know if medical or other benefits have been paid to a plaintiff, allowing the plaintiff to recover twice for his injuries—from a collateral source and from the defendant.

Legislation has been introduced in the Mississippi Legislature to address some of these problems, and more importantly, to provide a more equitable system of justice for all Mississippians.

Mississippians who support justice and fairness in the state's court system should make that support known to their legislators.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Mississippi's Democratic leaders want to revive party

For the first time in a dozen years, the Mississippi Democratic Party in Bill Clinton has a presidential candidate it can enthusiastically rally behind and who has a realistic chance of winning the state.

But with an excellent opportunity to use the Clinton campaign as a cornerstone upon which they can revive their financially stricken state party organization, the Mississippi Democrats are once again plagued by a sticky leadership problem stemming from the party's delicate racial balance.

Many Democrats had hoped to get an aggressive, widely-known new state party chairman who would have the clout and prestige to raise money the party desperately needs to compete with the well-financed state Republican organization. Those hopes have apparently been dashed.

Instead of stepping aside to make way for the election of a new party leader, Democratic Chairman Ed Cole, the longtime black political operative who has occupied the post the last six years, at the last minute made it known he wanted to stay on, at least through the national convention.

That doused cold water on the spadework that had been done by a contingent of state Democratic elected officials and other party leaders headed by former Gov. William Winter to recruit some substantial figure in the party to take over the job or rebuilding the party organization.

One prime prospect was former state Treasurer Bill Cole, now a leading Jackson bond attorney, who is regarded as one of the ablest administrators to ever serve in state government. He would be interested, Bill Cole agreed, contingent on Ed Cole not being a candidate and if he had a consensus of the party leadership.

Another prospect for the party chairmanship was Walter Thompson, the Clarksdale attorney who is a member of the National Democratic Party's finance council and is the top fund-raiser in the state for Governor Clinton's campaign. Thompson, however, was reluctant to take on the job living 150 miles from Jackson.

When the state Democratic Executive Committee met a week or so ago to elect officers, no one seemed willing to create another black-white fight over the chairmanship, so Ed Cole won by default.

But the committee proceeded to reject all candidates on Cole's slate for other party offices, and elected reform candidates, sending a clear message to Cole that there was going to be shared Leadership of the Party with much closer fiscal management.

As executive vice-chairman, a slot which had become effectively nonexistent under Cole, the committee elected white Jackson attorney Wilson Golden, a longtime political activist and campaign leader for former Gov. Ray Mabus. Cole had been at odds with Golden for several years (to the point of not answering Golden's phone calls), but after the committee action, Cole and Golden buried the hatchet and began working together.

The financial condition of the party for the past four years under Cole has been so wretched that the state Democratic party treasury is still $45,000 in the red even after a very successful Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner in April with Hillary Clinton cleared $37,000.

The party's state headquarters lives so close to the edge on its budget that its electricity was turned off one day recently before a check for the electric bill could be gotten to the power company.

Cole's regular job as an administrative staffer in the Jackson office of 4th District Democratic Congressman Mike Parker is in itself somewhat of an embarrassment to many Mississippi Democrats. Parker quite consistently votes with the Republicans in Congress and against the Democratic leadership.

Another knock against Cole is that he has alienated two of the state Democratic party's strongest constituency groups, the Mississippi Association of Educators and the AFL-CIO. Reportedly Cole has snubbed the teachers and organized labor on party assignments because they have been highly critical of Parker's votes in Congress.

So the Mississippi Democratic Party, no longer living in a political dream world where it has the only act in town, struggles to hold together its fragile ranks. Clinton, as well as state Democratic candidates, should be able to count on the party organization for help. Unless the party gets its act together, the GOP will laugh all the way to the voting booth.

letter, it must be done."

The board approved the two change orders, one requiring an increase of $5,502 in contract price.

Unanimous approval of the docket was given.

The board approved the purchase of police uniforms from the higher of two bidders. Assistant police chief Sandra Henley told the board, she recommended the higher bidder after researching the material quality of the offered products.

Frilot reported, as required by the Extended Facility Use Ordinance, there is only one city-owned office space available for extended use—the two areas occupied by the St. Vincent de Paul Society in the City Hall Annex Building. She added the space is presently being leased.

Weidman said the city has another facility, the Waveland Civic Center, and questioned the status of plans and date of initial renovations.

Frilot answered, "The facility is not available. It is in disrepair, has structural problems, and needs electrical work. The city building inspector is presently looking into the condition of the building and trying to contact builders."

She added, "There is only one space and it is occupied."

Weidman inquired about the upstairs space in the City Hall Annex Building.

Frilot said, "One room is used by the Drug Task Force, one as a meeting room for various groups and the remaining two rooms for storage of city records."

In other business the board approved:

—authorization for mayor to sign partial payment estimate #4 (final) on FmHA 1991 water and sewer improvement contract #1 for $25,793;

—authorization to pay partial fee due to Eaton & Associates for professional services regarding the FmHA 1991 water and sewer improvements project on: 1. FmHA agreement section B, $4,600; 2. FmHA agreement section C, inspection services, $4,000; 3. FmHA agreement section D, additional services, $2,280;

—authorization for mayor to sign pay estimate #7 on FmHA 1991 water and sewer improvement project with G.M. & R. Construction Co., for $42,092;

—authorization for Mayor, Rappold and City Clerk Arcelyn "Dee" Dastugue to attend Mississippi Municipal Association (MMA) annual convention, June 9-12;

—sell back of property to Mary Lee Wardle at $118;

—a public hearing for Leon Serpas of Baker's Subdivision for a possible adjudication of property.

Fire drills

Twenty-one firefighters from Bay St. Louis, Bayside Park, East Hancock, Leetown and Diamondhead fire departments repeat fire extinguishing techniques on an abandoned Sycamore Street house in Bay St. Louis May 3. The controlled burning was under the supervision of Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, Diamondhead Fire Chief Dennis Westbrook, Bay Assistant Chief and training officer Michael Willumitis, and Bay Lieutenants Gary Maurice and Terry McCory. The training exercises were held in conjunction with the Hancock County Volunteer Firefighter certification course presently being conducted at Hancock County Vo-Tech Center. During the public forum, Franya Ethridge asked if a police officer can simply issue a

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

"The only tears you'll shed are tears of joy when you bite into a sweet Vidalia onion." That was the byword at the 15th annual Vidalia Onion Festival in that Georgia town last weekend.

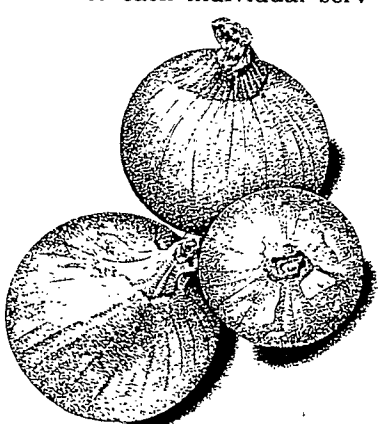

And, it's quite true of this world-famed onion, now at the peak of harvest, celebrated in true festival fashion, with onion-eating contests, cooking contests, games and so on. The Vidalia onion derives its sweetness and mildness of flavor from the soil in and around the small town of Vidalia and surrounding counties, a sweetness which experts say is related to the low sulfur content of the soil.

The Vidalia's official status is even attested by a judge's ruling some years ago that the only true Vidalia onion is one grown within 30 air miles of the town of Vidalia.

This ruling ended a battle between four Georgia counties over which grew the original, true Vidalia! A tasty way to enjoy these sweet onions is: VIDALIA ONIONS EN PAPILLOTE

Instead of the traditional French way, using parchment paper, the onions are baked in foil. For each individual serving, peel and core the onion as you would an apple. Dust with a bit of pepper and salt, and drop a few beef bouillon granules and a pat of butter into the center of each onion.

Wrap each onion in a large square of heavy-duty foil and bake in a 400-degree oven for an hour (an hour and a half if onions are larger). These baked onions are especially good with baked ham or roast beef.

Another good onion dish is:

SAUCY VIDALIA ONIONS

3 to 4 sweet Vidalia onions, large size (use 6 if smaller)
1/3 cup strained honey
1/4 cup water
3 Tbsp. butter

Arrange onions in single layer in baking dish. Mix honey and water together and pour over the onions. Dot with butter, cover and bake at 400 degrees for an hour—a tasty side dish.

And, a salad of sliced sweet Vidalia onions and vine-ripened tomatoes, especially Creole Tomatoes, is a taste treat! (Copyright, 1992, Katharine D. M. Caire)

Camp Rainbow

Pediatric cancer patients invited to free four-day camp

The American Cancer Society, Mississippi Division Inc., will conduct its 9th annual Camp Rainbow June 3-6.

This special camp for pediatric cancer patients was first conducted in 1984 on the Strong River in Pinola, Miss. Many of these children had never had the opportunity to enjoy the traditional fun of summer camp as most camps do not accept pediatric cancer patients for fear of not being prepared to meet their special needs.

The American Cancer Society's objective is to provide a fun-filled four-day camping experience in a loving and caring environment which affords each camper the opportunity to share the good times and camaraderie of camp life with fellow campers.

Camp Rainbow also allows the family a well-deserved rest knowing that their children are in the capable and trusted hands of qualified pediatric doctors and nurses as well as trained camp counselors.

Camp Rainbow offers traditional camp activities such as swimming, tennis, hayrides, horseback riding and arts and crafts. Each year specialized activities have been introduced such as canoeing, sock hops, clown clinics, hot air balloon rides and even Scottish folk dancing taught by the international camp staff!

Camp Rainbow is funded by contributions made to the Mississippi Division of the American Cancer Society and is free of charge to all participants. Since 1984 over 450 campers have attended Camp Rainbow and at its most recent camp in 1991, more than 70 children attended.

If you are interested in knowing more about Camp Rainbow, if you know of a child who might like to attend, or if you are interested in supporting Camp Rainbow, please call the American Cancer Society, Mississippi Division Inc. at 1-800-ACS-2345 or (601) 362-8874.

It seems they have problems with their daughter in college, and "Mom," played by Lila Kogon, must now live with David and Barbara.

Sophie hits it off with the elderly artist Maurice, played by Roy Aultman, who is their best client. Everything seems to unravel after that.

"Social Security" will be presented as traditional dinner theater. The ticket price is $17.50 per person and includes salad, entree, vegetable, starch, dessert, and coffee/tea. All taxes and gratuity are also included. The bar will be open at 6:15 p.m. Dinner will be served at 6:45.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

The new holocaust

Every four years, the equivalent of the six million Jews liquidated in the World War II Holocaust are terminated. Yes, one and a half million unborn babies have been aborted each year since 1973 when the U.S. Supreme Court declared abortion to be a fundamental right.

Aborted—a clean, antiseptic term which does not connote what it really says. It is a worn-out, jaded euphemism which means nothing more nor less than killed. Killed? Pro choice people don't believe in killing fetuses. They believe only in aborting them. Don't attribute any dirty terms to them.

Since the pro choicers place the foundation of their argument on the belief that there is no human being before birth, it is quite in order to ask them: "Are you sure? Are you sure six and a half million times every year?"

"Are you sure that the millisecond of difference between a fetus' being in the womb and a fetus' emerging from the womb actually constitutes the difference between being merely a fetus and being a person, a human being with rights?"

And: "If you are not sure, aren't you gambling lethally and irreversibly with life, both natural and supernatural, something which only God has the right to call into being and to terminate? Surely, no human has a right to such a gamble."

But most pro-choice women interject: "A woman has a right over her own body! No one can dictate what a woman must do with her own body!"

Are we to conclude, then, that a woman has a right to cut a finger off if she wants to? It has always been a part of our Judeo-Christian moral beliefs that we do not have a radical right over our body. We do not consider it right to mutilate or harm our bodies except for medical intervention.

Thus, it is acceptable to cut a cancerous finger off in order to preserve one's whole body from the invasion of cancer. This applies equally to removing a cancerous womb, whether occupied by a fetus or not.

However, to remove a fetus which is simply there, imposing no threat to the host mother, smacks of a Holocaust mentality which would eliminate any undesirables who cannot fight back. Most defenseless of the defenseless, of course, are fetuses.

The Holocaust mentality lowers victims to a subhuman or abstract level, enabling the liquidator to kill without unnecessary pangs of conscience. Hence, the furious insistence that an unborn fetus is not a person, not a human being.

Anyone who laments the savagery and gross inhumanity of the Holocaust, yet champions or tolerates the liquidation of fetuses, is being very inconsistent and hypocritical.

These are the two pillars on which the house of abortion is built: an impersonal non-victim and a host mother who alone has sovereign rights over her body.

Under her radical right, a woman, presumably, can administer any drug to herself which she wants, since she has domain over her body. Apparently, we can just forget about the destructiveness of drug abuse and various addictions.

We won't deceive ourselves and claim that pro life is an easy choice. Rather, it is a very difficult one at times, involving huge sacrifices and bitter consequences. Neither must we delude ourselves by saying that to abort is not to murder.

Senior Citizen of the Year

Program specialist Arlene Johnson presented Carl Baldenhofer with a plaque honoring him as Senior Citizen of the Year last week during a luncheon at the Hancock County Senior Citizen Center. Baldenhofer, who helped start the American Association of Retired Persons chapter in Hancock County, was very involved in senior citizen activities as early as 1972. Currently, he teaches senior art classes and has donated many paintings to public officials' offices and to the Center for raffles and prizes. He has also made many cash and food donations to the Center, where he can be found every day volunteering his help to anyone with a need. (Echo staff photo by Traci Bonney)

Twelve Steps for Christians program starts well — Carpenter

A 12-week study of the book The Twelve Steps for Christians met for the first time May 5 at the Waveland United Methodist Church.

Twenty people participated in the study, which is designed to help people in times of need. Rev. Van Carpenter said the study shows the Biblical basis for the 12 steps used by AA and how they can be applied to a variety of problems and needs faced by people in today's society.

The Waveland church offers this program free of charge to the public as a means of helping others, Carpenter said. He assured that there is no obligation to the church by those who participate, and the program is open to anyone who is hurting mentally, emotionally, physically or spiritually, without regard to race or religious affiliation.

Those who want to join the group may do so on Tuesday evenings at 7 at the church, which is located on the corner of Central Avenue and Vacation Lane.

Carpenter said some of those finding help through the program are suffering from the effects of grief, divorce, addiction, emotional trauma, abuse, loneliness, fear, marriage problems, resentments, gambling, dependency, crime and illness.

All materials are supplied by the church at no cost to the participants, he added.

From the Land Down Under

Bay, Diamondhead Rotary Clubs host visiting Australians

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis and Diamondhead Rotary Clubs served as hosts for District 6840 Rotary International's GSE Australian Team.

The visitors last weekend from Australia were John Kingman, team leader; Michael Hodge, Paul Kittle, Timothy Long and Geoff Waters.

Hosts for the visitors were, Steve Benvenutti, Jon Ritten, Jay Fleuriet Jr., Fred Wagner, Bill Taylor and Paul Montjoy. Denis Inkel of Diamondhead, past district governor, is the District 6840 host.

Highlights of the Australians visit included tours of the John C. Stennis Space Center, GE Plastics at Port Bienville, Buccaneer State Park and Wave Pool and Sam's Wholesale Club. A crawfish boil, sailing trip and other activities were hosted in their honor.

A joint meeting of the Bay St. Louis and Diamondhead Rotary Clubs was held Tuesday at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Honorary citizenship certificates were presented to the Australians for Waveland by Mayor Stella Frilot and Bay St. Louis by Gordon Boh on behalf of Mayor Eddie Favre.

Each visitor told a bit about the country and experiences of the past five weeks, while visiting Rotary Clubs in District 6840.

Kingman, a builder, spoke on his nation's 7-8 million population spread over an area about the size of the United States without Alaska.

Hodge, telephone company employee, told how in his country the telephone company is still a monopoly, but is now facing a change like several years ago in the United States.

There are many pine trees in this area to observe, Corbett, a forester, reported. He also told the importance in the research and use of ground water in Australia, which has an 11-inch annual average rainfall.

Waters, a policeman, said it is a privilege to drive a vehicle in Australia, which has a DUI level of .05. There is no longer a probable cause provision in Australia, and at random stops, everyone is given a breath test. A person convicted of DUI loses the privilege to drive for one year and is fined $1,200 on first offense.

Kittle, a dentist, reported on some of Australia's contributions in the field of medicine.

Long, a publication and media consultant, said crawfish were used for fish bait in Australia, and not too many fish eat them.

Each member of the GSE team was overwhelmed with the hospitality he received during the stay in Rotary District 6840.

In photos clockwise:

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

Members of the American Legion posts and auxiliaries attended a Ninth District Conference at Post 77 in Waveland April 23-25. All of the state auxiliary officers were in attendance as were many of the local officers of posts and units throughout the district.

The president of Clement R. Bontemps Unit 139, Janet Aime, reported that on March 31, Unit 139 was the largest unit in the State of Mississippi. In her report, she praised the work done by second vice president and membership chairman Mattie North. To honor the outstanding job done by Mrs. North and her committee, the state membership chairman awarded Unit 139 with a certificate and presented Mrs. North with a pin.

Mrs. North could not attend the conference, due to illness, so Mrs. Aime accepted the pin on her behalf.

On Monday, May 4, the Auxiliary held its bi-annual Bingwich party for veterans at the Post home.

VAWS chairman Shirley Clemons and the ladies of the Auxiliary donated and served mixed sandwiches, cake, potato salad, potato chips, pickles and pork and beans to the veterans, who enjoyed the meal.

The ladies who volunteered were Clara Arnold, Anna Brehm, Hazel Breland, Evelyn Burns, Mamie Carver, Genevieve Cole, Debra Downey, Judy Gavney, Pat Gillan, Rose Jaquillard, Beryl Murtagh, Elaine Roberts, Oris Planchard, Margaret Prevou, Bobbie Tomlinson, Billie Tudury, Roslyn Weathers and Hazel Wohlschlegel.

After lunch, the veterans played bingo for the many prizes which they selected for themselves, and took back with happy thoughts to the VA hospital in Gulfport, the Hotel Reed Nursing Center, and the neighboring homes they live in. There were 50 veterans in all, and all thanked the ladies for a great time.

A special thanks to the Post, Delchamps, for their help in making the event a huge success.

On Thursday, May 7, Roslyn Weathers and Oris Planchard co-hosted the Auxiliary's regular monthly sing-along for the residents of the Hotel Reed Nursing Center.

Lena May Oustalet played the piano while Roslyn Weathers led the singing of the gospel, psalms and "oldies but goodies."

The residents appreciated the music and showed it by their participation, clapping their hands or tapping on the tables.

Refreshments were served, and a good time was had by all.

Great Books reading group begins fourth year May 28

The Great Books reading group of Hancock County will begin its fourth year Thursday, May 28, with a discussion of Arthur Schopenhauer's The Indestructibility of Our Inner Nature. New participants are invited.

Order blanks for the 15 selections may be obtained at the Hancock County main library on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis. Additional copies are available in the library for those who will not have received their readings.

In a Great Books reading and discussion group, adults meet informally to read, consider and discuss some of the best books written in the past 2,500 years. Meetings are held every two weeks and last approximately two hours.

Typical readings in a Great Books program include histories, plays, political essays, novels and religious works. Corresponding to these categories, readings in the fourth series will be Edward Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Bernard Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra, Alexander Hamilton's Federalist Papers, Nikolai Gogol's The Overcoat and the Book of Job.

For more modern works on the lighter side, short selections from Mississippi writers such as Don Lee Keith, Walker Percy and Elizabeth Spencer will be discussed. These are to be taken from Reflections of Childhood and Youth (edited by Dorothy Abbott, available at the library or bookstore).

The Great Books Foundation is an independent, nonprofit educational corporation. There is no cost for the program unless one wishes to purchase one's own readings, available at $20 for the three volumes of the fourth series.

For additional information, contact Paul Eaves at 467-9595, or the library at 467-5282.

WAS RIGHT ABOUT MANY THINGS

Your mother had to be alert
To help you through each childhood hurt;
And times when you were sick in bed,
No matter what the doctor said,
You loved the stories that she'd tell,
That always seemed to make you well.
Then, with your childhood left behind,
Your mother always was inclined
To worry when you had a date,
And frequently came home too late.
But later on, you saw the light,
And realized that she was right.
As lessons of your faith attest,
Your mother did her very best;
So if she's here, or gone away,
Let's honor her on Mother's Day.

Tex-Mex Fiesta

Diamondhead Country Club goes South of the Border

Special to the Echo

The Diamondhead Country Club held its first spring festival with a Tex-Mex Fiesta by the pool Saturday, April 25. The pool area was transformed into a replica of a Mexican villa, designed and decorated by Diamondhead residents.

Queen Maria Elena Clarice Gustin

The fiesta was sponsored by Diamondhead Country Club, under the guidance of club manager, Brenda Graybeal. The planning and decorating committee included Nina Cotton, Laura Almerico, Rusty Cobb, Eloise Connelly, Rose Hobbs, Sue Jerome, Betty Reddock, Chris Sauter, Shirley Von Planta and Rose Hobbs' grand daughter, Jessica Blanchard.

Betty Claggett, a Diamondhead Property Owners Association board member and a member of the club's committee, was recognized for her contributions to organizing various events at the county club, which has been the center of activities for the past 22 years.

Decorations for the Tex-Mex Fiesta were inspired by the famous annual spring festival in San Antonio, Texas. Over 1,000 hand-made Mexican flowers of all sizes and colors that were made by the committee turned the pool area into a blaze of color. Garlands of flowers were hung on the fence around the pool, and over 400 luminaries that were lit at dusk lined the fence. Colorful lanterns were hung in each of the eight cabanas, reflecting the waters of the pool. Various pinatas hung from the palm trees.

A Mexican cart, made by Lou Cotton, and piled with baskets and flowers, decorated the pool-house area. Life-size Mexican figures that appeared to be taking a siesta, were made by Rusty Cobb.

The cold drink vending machine was covered with cardboard painted and decorated to resemble a Mexican villa (made by Shirley Von Planta, Chris and Joe Sauter). The main wall of the poolhouse was covered with striped paper and accented with black lace and fuchsia fans made by Rose Hobbs.

The highlight of the evening was the introduction of Queen Maria Elena, Clarice Gustin, whose identity had been kept secret. She was driven around the pool in a flower bedecked golf cart decorated by Laura Almerico and Sue Jerome.

Gustin is marketing director of Diamondhead Country Club. Music was provided by "Jamm," and a selection of Spanish and Latin American dances was performed by Betty Blanchard and Buddy Madison of Slidell.

Dick Alves, of the "Entertainers," provided the equipment and taped music to set the stage and atmosphere as the guests arrived at the pool.

Special Mexican flowers, assembled by Jessica Blanchard, were handed to members as they arrived.

SSC campaign nears half-way mark

The St. Stanislaus fundraising campaign, "An Endowment For Excellence," neared the half-way mark of its $3 million goal with total pledges of over $1.35 million.

The three-year campaign, which started in September, 1991, is led by general chairman Jim Smith, a 1945 alumnus. The majority of the gifts have come from alumni, parents and friends of the school.

The campaign received a gift of $500,000 from Jack Kent, long-time friend and supporter of St. Stanislaus. His son, Jack Jr., was valedictorian of the Class of 1983. Kent said he is interested in seeing as many boys as possible have the opportunity to attend St. Stanislaus—and he realizes in some cases financial assistance will be needed. He owns and operates Marine Shale Processors Inc. in St. Mary Parish, Louisiana.

Brother Paul Montero, president, stated the campaign objectives are "to significantly increase our endowment so Catholic education offered by St. Stanislaus can be available to all, regardless of financial standing; to complete payment of the new addition built last year; and to continue making needed improvements and renovations to the campus."

The campaign is being conducted by an 18-man steering committee along with 95 alumni and parent volunteers. Along with general chairman Jim Smith, the members of the steering committee are Robert Alford, James Bryan, Earle Christenberry, Bernie Cousins, Robert Davidge, Herb Dubuisson, Brother Aquin Gauthier, David Glover, Jack Kent Jr., Brother Paul Montero, Jon Ritten, Jules Rousseau, Michael Ryan, Tim Ryan, Leo Seal Jr., Jesse Shannon and David Treutel.

Additional information regarding the campaign may be obtained by contacting Brother Aquin Gauthier.

Ask the Veteran's Service Center

Submitted by
Donald Mauffray
Veterans Service Officer

Q. I plan to have my spouse buried in a national cemetery. Will I be entitled to burial in the same cemetery?

A. Yes, assuming you have not remarried since the time of your husband's death. Burial in a national cemetery is open to a veteran's widow(er); minor children; unmarried children under the age of 23 who are attending school; and under certain conditions, unmarried adult children.

Q. May the VA request my social security number on my application for compensation and pension benefits?

A. Under the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990, VA is required to request social security numbers to match its beneficiary rolls against files of other agencies. Beneficiaries have 60 days to respond. Those who fail to reply may face suspension or termination of VA benefits.

Q. My father, a veteran of World War II, recently died and I purchased a headstone for his grave. Will the government reimburse me?

A. For veterans who died after Nov. 1, 1990, the headstone or marker allowance is no longer paid. Eligible veterans are still entitled to receive a government-provided headstone or marker for the burial site.

Q. May a veteran qualify for adaptive equipment if he or she cannot qualify for the initial auto grant from the VA?

A. A veteran entitled to compensation for permanent immobility of one or both knees, or one or both hips, may qualify.

Q. I retired from the Army in March 1988 after 20 years of service. I was told that I am not eligible for GI Bill education benefits because I retired before July 1, 1988. Is this true?

A. A recent decision by the Department of Defense allows those who were involuntarily retired between January 1, 1988, and June 30, 1988, to qualify for GI Bill education benefits assuming they meet all other eligibility requirements. For more information, call the VA Regional Office (1-800-827-2028).

Q. Do veterans with compensable service-connected disabilities have to pay a funding fee when obtaining a VA-guaranteed home loan?

A. No.

"The quick look data looks good." These were the findings of Mississippi Test Facility personnel after scanning tapes of performance obtained during last Friday's full duration acceptance firing of the S-11 Saturn V-Apollo second phase moon shot booster rocket at Mississippi Test Facility. If the data proves successful the component will be shipped out on Feb. 5 via river barge to Michoud. There it will be off-loaded and put on board a sea going barge for passage to Cape Kennedy. The component is scheduled to become part of the first Saturn V vehicle whose launch date is anticipated to be in the second quarter of this year.

HONOR YOUR MOTHER FOR THE MANY ROLES SHE HAD TO PLAY

A mother must be many things.
To handle woes that childhood brings.
With more than just her apron strings
She must be on the ball:
A teacher, nurse and counselor
For anything that might occur,
And so you could depend on her
To answer when you'd call.

She had to play a different role
With every sorrow she'd console;
While helping you to reach your goal,
Whatever would befall.
Your House of Worship teaches you
To honor her your whole life through;
Whatever job she had to do,
Your mother did it all.
